Advanced Learners & Slow Learners

Through this policy the College says its promise to the vital promotion and support to the advanced learners to be brilliant students and slow learners to be better performing scholars in the academic as well as individual life. In every academic programme there will be some students who can do really good and study more with the understanding capacity, ability and hard working practices, and also some students may find difficulty in their understanding process due to different special or systemic grounds. In both cases the students need extraordinary consideration and involvements to make their learning activity more inspiring useful and helpful.

The slow learners are the weak in learning academic processes. They may be unsuccessful in assessments or will achieve poor marks.
